5. What similarities between your cultures (your own country's culture and your host country's culture) did you see? If you are a member of the host team, what similarities between your country's culture and the partner countries' cultures did you see? (Please, give the most important ones).

The answers were:

Hospitality, religion, art, the language and some customs, processions, personality, the procession in Aveiro, we both have similar languages.

I have noticed that some of the most important historic dates in most countries are the ones that represent the victory against totalitarian regimes, such as 1st of December for Romania or 25 th of April for Italy.

We both have very interesting festivals and the people here are as welcoming as the Romanians.

The way in which we comunicate and welcome the other people.

These people are so kind and I loved that thing.

Hospitality is similar.

Polish and Macedonian language is similiar.

The approach to faith is similar to that of my country.

We have a similar language and culture.

Both of them use porcelain tiles as walls.

Openness, social skills, readiness to help.

In my opinion everything was new for me, however some Portugese dishes were similar to ours.

Portugal has a rich culture and history, like my country.

That we all have big parties when we're celebrating something.

Craftsmanship.

The hospitality, the oldest generations passing on traditions to the younger ones.

Italy also has the 25th of April as a celebration.

The Italian language is similar to the Portuguese language. They also commemorate the Day of Liberty on the same day as us.

The liberty day of Portugal and Italy (April 25).

They are all very fun and welcoming.

In my opinion, all cultures have their own characteristics but the Italians and Romanians are similiar because of the Latin influence.

Language and customs.

History

Everyone respects our religion and culture and we do the same with them.

The people are friendly and welcoming.

I saw a lot of similarities in the words in the other languages, I think it is very funny how it is so the same and so different at the same time

Very kind people

Similar to the host country and my country is that both parties are hospitable and polite.

Traditional customs.

6. What differences between your cultures (your own country's culture and your host country's culture) did you see? If you are a member of the host team, what differences between your country's culture and the partner countries' cultures did you see? (Please, give the most important one).

The participants' answers were:

More awareness for the respect of the environment and order.

The tile industry ,the food, the folk costumes.

Food

The architecture and weather are quite different.

The traditional food is quite different, obviously, and the architecture of the buildings is something unique, that I have never seen before.

We have different opinions about subjects of discussion and there are a lot of things to learn from each other.

Food, school system and organization.

Differences in school.

Architectural structure

The school system.

Times of doing things, eating.

We have different school system.

We don't have any church in our country.

Architecture, celebrations.

The food in my country is cheaper than in Portugal.

They aren't happy when someone else wins, but in fact, nobody is....

Different buildings, life style.

Food, music, festivities

The school path is different.

The Turkish students made a sort of spot in their hands that meant good luck.

The henna tradition of Turkey.

Food, education system.

Gastronomy. In Turkey, for example, they don't eat pork unlike us (Portuguese). In addition, the religions are different, but none of these prevented the interaction between everyone.

Traditions

They eat different food and their languages are very different even if three of our languages come from Latin.

The food, the habits, the culture.

The school's schedules, the school years and the traditions are different.

Cultural habits and eating habits

I liked the churches we visited the most and they are completely different from ours. Also the traditional food, I liked it so much.

7. What will you remember most from this project's meeting?

The respondents' answers were:

It was a beautiful experience and I'm grateful for the time spent here.

The beautiful days spent together.

The experience was unforgettable.

I enjoyed myself very much.

Maybe to go slowly during the visits.

I feel wild because this project was so so good, thank you everyone who supported this project.

It's a great project to get to know the culture, but I don't think a week is enough to get to know a country.

I like your country so much. This is the best experience in my entire life. Nice to meet you all and I hope to see you in Turkey 😊

Food was delicious.

I would include more visits of the surrounding area on our own.

I would like to thank you for the opportunity to explore your beautiful country and work with you.

Thanks to all participants for their commitment to the project, the kindness and happy moments.

This experience was amazing and I will never forget it.

Thank you for the opportunity to be part of this experience.

It was an amazing experience. Thank you all of you.

It is a unique adventure, where we meet several people from whom we learn a lot

Now, thanks for all :)

I have no objections to the organization, my peers presented the Portuguese culture so well and introduced us to their city.
